FIRE.— On Friday last about one o'clock it was discovered that a fire had broken out near the old Tamann at Camping Glean.

Exertions were used as soon as possible to suppress it, but the wind being very high at the time, and the atap and wooden houses adjacent which it originated, unfortunately offering every facility to its progress it rapidly increased, and the flames soon extended across the road to the range of houses honestly belonging to the Sultan. It was found impossible to offer any effectual check to the fire, as owing to the wind shifting every half hour, it extended in several different directions at the same time, and it speedily raged on both sides of the main road, rendering it difficult to pass along it and thus presented a serious obstacle to the efforts for its suppression. In order to prevent the fire communicating to the houses of the Europeans on the Beach road, it was resolved to pull down a number of atap houses immediately adjoining the bungalow occupied by Mr. G. McMuckin, and this was immediately set about; but the wind shifting, the atap houses were soon in a blaze, and the kitchen in Mr McMuckin's compound caught the fire and then a bungalow situated in the adjoining compound belonging to the KEK. The whole
